Mr. Foster Opposes the Bill-Frank M. Lewis, of Butte, is Acquitted—Edmunds on the Anti-Trust Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 27.-[Special telegram to The Herald.]—I asked Attorney-General Miller this morning why it was that Mr. McKay was still serving as assistant United States district at torney when he (Mr. Miller) told me on Tuesday lass that McKay had been dismissed. The attorney-general replied that his language of Tuesday probably needed a slight modification. What he had meant to say was that McKay had been nettined that necessary of the Kay had been notified that on account of the charges against him, he could not continue in office, but that it was expected he would serve until his successor should be appointed. 'I desire," Mr. Miller added, "that McKay's successor shall be some one in every way satisfactory to the dis-trict attorney, I should wait a reasonable time for the district attorney to make a recommenda-Meanwhile, Mr. McKay will remain. but it will only be, as I have said, until his suc-tessor be appointed. Your telegram to the Salt Bake HERALD was substantially correct. Mr. McKay is to all intents and purposes dimissed from the service of the government."

The Storm is General.

CHICAGO, March 27.-The severe storm which reached here at noon has been general through-put the northwest. Snow fell heavily this after-hoon for an hour then turned into rain and sleet accompanied by a furious gale. The tele-graph service to-night is crippled in all direc-tions.

amending the census act to allow special agents $\overline{80}$ a day for subsistence when traveling, passed. Among the bills reported and placed on the calendar was the Senate bill to reorganize and establish a customs collection district of Puget sound; the House bill for the retirement of John C. Fremont as major-general. The Senate bill appropriating $10,000 acditional for a light ship at the mouth of the Calumbia river passed. The Senate bill suspending for one year the statutes requiring steamers to be provided with certain life saving appliances, guns for throwing line, etc., passed.

The anti-trust bill was then taken up. When the amendment excepting from the prohibitions of the law combinations of worsamen and larmers came up. Edmunds spoke at some icr, th. He favored going as far as the constitution permitted in suppressing and breaking up trusts and monopoles. The people could not shut their eyes to the fact that if rapital combined, if great industrial establishments combined to defend themselves, and so this country and other countries for the last forty years had been turned into great camps of opposition where there ought to be only one camp of co-operative frigods. Even in Washington where Congress has exclusive jurisdiction all the trades had combinations which were armed camps making aggressive warfare against the rest of makind. Edmunds cited as an incident where Congress has exclusive jurisdiction all the trades had combinations which were armed caups making aggressive warfare against the rest of makind. Edmunds etted as an incident the case of a skilled printer who wanted employment in the public printing office but could not be hired because he did not belong to a particular combination, and the public printing extraction, and the public printing extraction, and the public printing extraction was threatened with a strike if the man were employed. If this sort of thing was not tyranny, Edmunds did not know what tyrany was. Edmunds went on to argue that if into combination, but he was threatened with a strike if the man vere employed. If this sort of thing was not tyranny, Edmunds did not know what tyrany was. Edmunds went on to argue that if into combined on wheel miles and timaces, etc., that a right to combine to protect them selves so as to get such prices as would make tup for the increased cost of oroduction. He believed it was best or to endure the partial evil of grinding monopolies than to attempt to step clear over the boundary line established and maintained between Councess and the legislative powers of the states.

WASHINGTON, March 37.—Hon. J. W. Fos ter appeared before the Senate committee on insurance as representative of the Chinese merchants of the United States, and opposed the bill which passed the House on the 17h, that required the superintendent of the census to give every Chinaman in the country a certificate which would be an assurance of his right to romain in the United States. Poster asserted that the passage of this bill would not satisfy those interested in adverse Chinese legislation. He clical the recent action of the supervisors of San Francisco setting apart a certain quarter of that city wherein all Chinese must live and do business. He further read from a statement by the counsel of the supervisors who, drafted the ordinance, advising the carrying out of the provisions of the ordinance regardless of any appeal by the Chinese to the government.

regardless of any appeal by the Chinese to the covernment.

Foster said the proper regulation and restriction of Chinese emmigration could be secured by a rigid enforcement of the laws now on the statetie books without further violation of the treaties with China and the straining of relations with her government. The effect of the hill, if it should become law, would be to invite to American merchanis and missionaries, and complete non-intercourse commercially between the two nations.

DENVER, Colo., March 27.-Chief Engmeer last November to make a preliminary survey for the Denver, Colorado Cañon & Pacific rall-way from Grand Junction to the Gulf of California through the Grand canon of the Colorado river, returned home to-day from Needles, Cal., for a couple of weeks' rest. Mr. Stanton and his party are the first men who have passed through this dangerous cufion since Major Pow-ell made the trip in 1869. In conversation tonight he said the construction of a railway through the canon was perfectly feasible, and that from Grand Junetion, Colo., to Needles, a distance of 900 miles, the grade need not in any place exceed twenty feet per mile, and for the greater part of the distance would not be more than from five to ten feet per mile, while the curvature, contrary to general expectation, will be very light, were results much better than he anticipated.

Mr. Stanton has gathered considerable, data upon the resources of the country adjacent to anticipated.

Mr. Stanton has gathered considerable, data upon the resources of the country adjacent to the cañon, but as yet the greater part is undeveloped and it is a difficult matter to put them into any definite shape. Between the head of the Colorado river and the end of the Grand cañon he passed over five hundred and twenty rapids. He graphically describes his passage over rapid No. 45, below Peach springs, during which one of his boats was damaged by collision with rocks, and he was washed overgoard by a wave, thrown into a whirlpool and sucked and drawn downward into what seemed a bottom less river. He finally came to the surface fifty feet from where he went down and was rescued by his men. These rapids are many times more dangerous than the one where President Brown and two men lost their lives last summer, but on account of the present party being supplied with life preservers the men during the whole trip have been in no danger of drowning. He considers this cañon from Peach Springs to the Grand wash to be the grandest and most wonderful of the whole cañon, the scenery surpassing anything American even the Grand cañon of the Arkansas and the Black cañon of the bravery and faithfulness of the men who accompanied him in this dangerous journey. Stanton returns to the Needles in two weeks to complete the trip from there to the Gulf of California.

The count was telegraphed to the Examiner Tuesday, took place in the police court yesterday. The count was charged in misdemeanor in distributing circulars in the streets. The count were a low cut yest that displayed an immaculate shirt front, and his clothes were nearly brushed. He did not have the appearance of a man who had spent twenty-four hours in a prison cell, but it was from behind one he came when he entered the prisoner's doek. Counsel for the countess, formerly lits Virginia Knox, in her divorce proceedings, was in court, but manifested no in terest in the case except when the magistrate asked the count if he was entitled to the title by which he is known. Is answer to this question Montercole rulled out an elaborate card case of quilted silk, in which the national colors of Italy were formed by that folds of colored material, and produced a French passport in which his fall title was used.

The magistrate imposed a fine of $30 and said he would require the count to enter bonds in the sum of $50 to keep the peace. The count's counsel said he wished to dispute the statement that his client was an adventurer and that he was seeking by improper methods to procure money. The allegation that he is passing under a title that does not rightfully belong to him is faile. The title of count was honestly inherited by him, and he is a descendant of one of the oldest and most noble families of Italy. This is wouched for by hundreds of the better class of Italians now living in this city," concluded the lawyer.

Montercole's friends, who were present in force, promptly paid the fine and the count left the building as happy as he possibly could be under the circumstances.

State Treasurer Archer's Shortage. ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 27.-No one seems to ow the extent of State Treasurer Archer's difficulties.

Fight thousand dollars of the state shortage has been discovered so far and has been pledged by Treasurer Archer for his private account. President Newcomber, of the Safe Deposit and Trust company, says the only way a legislative committee can gain access to Archer's box in their building, is to present his keys and a power of attorney from that gentleman. A joint committee of the senate and house has been appointed to investigate Archer's accounts. The amount of the shortage is supposed to be large. Archer's condition is serious and no one is allowed to see him other than his wife and daughter and attending physician.

"I regard Hood's Sarraparilla as having passed above the grade of what are commonly called patent or proprietary medicines," said a well known physician recently. "It is fully entitled to be considered a standard medicine, and has won this position by its undoubted merit and by the many remarkable cures it has effected. For an alterative and tonic it has never been equalled."
